NOVA Alexandria Campus – Cookbook project

Submit your recipes to "Our Food: Community Recipes from the AL Campus"

Campus Announcement

Hello NOVA Alexandria Campus,

Food is a universal necessity. The food we eat may differ from place to place but we all must eat, and this need provides us all an immediate connection. By learning about the food of other cultures we begin to deepen that connection and understand each other in a different way.

In an effort to connect our Alexandria community through food, we are coordinating a campus-wide cookbook to be published this spring. These cookbooks will be made available for free to Alexandria students, staff, and faculty. If you would like to be featured in this cookbook, please use the form below to submit a recipe.

This project is hosted by the NOVA Alexandria Campus – Student Life Office and the NOVA – Office of DEI. We welcome all Alexandria staff, faculty, and students to contribute to this initiative.
